Forecast For Highland & Eilean Siar
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Friday 12 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mainly dry with sunny spells but bitterly cold and breezy.

Today:
A few snow showers likely across Caithness, otherwise a dry day with some long spells of sunshine. However it will feel bitterly cold with an occasionally strong southeasterly breeze with gales developing over western coasts. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tonight:
Snow showers across Caithness dying out to leave a dry night with long clear spells. Widespread sub-zero temperatures, not as low as recent nights due to the strong southeasterly breeze. Minimum temperature -5 deg C (23 deg F).

Saturday:
A bright morning with sunny spells but becoming cloudier across western parts in the afternoon with patchy light sleet and snow. Still bitterly cold and windy with coastal gales. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Dry start Sunday but outbreaks of sleet and snow spreading northeast, turning to rain later. Rather cloudy Monday and Tuesday with occasional rain or showers, but milder and less windy.
